Amassed over 40+ years, these sports and rock 'n' roll memorabilia were acquired by an avid collector from San Francisco's East Bay. Known and beloved by family and friends as "Uncle Mike," he was "generous and charismatic, loved to spread joy, and lived life to the fullest," said his niece. Starting as a youth, he collected thousands of sports cards, progressing to a vast collection of sports and rock 'n' roll items as his tastes and purchasing power changed.

A star high school athlete in football who had thoughts of turning pro, he was an enthusiastic fan of many sports – football, baseball, boxing, and more – and had season tickets to many events. Uncle Mike was also passionate about music, attending over 1000 concerts, often taking family or friends. He met numerous artists and groups, including Velvet Revolver, Guns 'n' Roses, and Stone Temple Pilots.

Over the years, countless weekends were spent in Las Vegas attending the sporting or rock 'n' roll events he loved. There he acquired many items, both from a dealer and other collectors. Uncle Mike was serious about preserving his prized possessions: almost all are cased or framed. His collection was proudly showcased throughout his home, with one entire room dedicated to these collectibles. Now, as his estate is settled, other collectors have the opportunity to enjoy the fruits of Uncle Mike's long and ardent passion acquiring one-of-a-kind sports and rock 'n' roll memorabilia.
